G9274 — France. Hist. Civil Wars, 1559-1610. — Aylesbury, William, tr. 1628-1657.

France. History. 1559-1610.

During the reign of Henry IV, France was a kingdom of great power and influence. The king was a man of great ability and courage, and he was able to bring the country back to a state of peace and prosperity after a long period of civil war. He was also a great patron of the arts and sciences, and he was able to attract many of the leading minds of the time to his court. His reign was a golden age for France, and it was during this time that the country reached its greatest extent of power and influence.

Dear Sir,
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. in relation to the matter of the purchase of the land for the proposed site of the new building of the National Academy of Sciences. I am sorry to hear that you are unable to purchase the land at the price offered. I am sure that the National Academy of Sciences will be able to find another site for its building.

Very respectfully,
James H. Thompson
